Higher Court Rules as Grimm Ruled Initial Decision.

The Court of Appeals today held that Gircuit Judge Grimm was in error in accusing himself of error in giving an instruction in the case of J. S. The jury found in favor of the de-fendant but Judge Grimm granted a new trial on the ground that he was wrong in giving an instruction that the defendant had a right to end the contract. The defendant appealed. In directing that judgment be entered for the defense, the Appellate Court says that After hearing the woman's story, Dis-trict Attorney Coon and Sheriff Edgerton took Boliva to the farm where the Matronis formerly lived. Boliva at first denied knowledge of the murder, but later, District Attorney Coon said, he confessed and told the men where to dig. They found the body under nine feet of earth, the house having been torn down and the cellar filled in after the Matronis moved away.

Boliva killed Matroni, he told the Dis trict Attorney, because, after his mar-riage to Matroni's stepdaughter, she told him that Matroni had attacked her the Chinese President Not Disposed to Sacrifice German Friendship by Joining Allies.

PEKIN, Nov. 28.-The informal suggestion of the entente Powers that China join the allies, thus solidifying the far East, has not been well re-ceived by President Yuan Shi Kai, who s not willing to abandon neutrality and sacrifice German good will. Japan aparently has not participated in the ritish origin.

Eki Hioki, Japanese Minister to China, as returned to Pekin and visited the Foreign Office yesterday. He said he brought back no demands upon China and would not present for further con-sideration at this time group five of the original demands, which were de-ferred for future consideration at the time the others were accepted by the Chinese Government. This group relates to the employment of Japanese advisers in political, financial and military affairs, the employment of Japanese to reorganize the police force, the purchase from Japan of munitions of war and the propagation of Buddhism in China by Japanese subjects.

Delighter Over Merger of Pastor A merger of the weekly ministers' meetings of the Methodist Episcopal Church and the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, which was effected yesterday, so delighted the Rev. Dr.

The decision to hold join ministeral meetings in future was reached at meeting in St. John's Church, which is of the Southern body. In addition to Dr. Lee's vocal efforts, the event was celebrated by a chicken dinner, served by the women of St. John's.

CHILD'S EAR, SAYS DR. JOHN SHAPLEIGH

Even a Light Blow May Impair the Hearing, He Says in Lecture.

That parents were neglectful of disease symptoms in children's ears, noses and throats, and that such neglect was a most potent cause of chronic inflammations and, in some cases, deafness, was pointed out by Dr. John Shapleigh of the Washington University Medical School faculty in a lecture vesterday afternoon at the St. Louis Children's Hospital on "Diseases of the Ear, Nose" and Throat." "How often," Dr. Shapleigh said, "do we hear an earache called 'only an ear-ache,' when it may be a symptom of a disease that, if unchecked, may result in total or partial deafness? Often, the only treatment accorded an excreting ear is a perfunctory cleansing." The doctor advocated a thorough, prompt examination of the ear, nose and throat, immediately upon suspicion of the presence of disease. Most ear, nose and throat diseases respond readily to treatment and the ecturer pointed out that if parents would heed warning symptoms serious mplications might be avoided.

Adenoids and Enlarged Tonsils. Adenoids and enlarged tonsils inter ered not only with respiration, but also with normal oxidation of the tissues and the process of disposing of bodily waste products. The result was, the doctor said, that the bodily resistance was low-ered and susceptibility to disease inreased. Obstructions in the nose and broat had, in some cases, caused deormities of the chest, he said. School children who were "mouth-breathers" were often found to have such obstruc-

Deafness was a detriment to the efficiency of the community, Dr. Shapleigh said, on account of its incompatability with the education of the individual. Deafness was brought on by excessive ise of alcohol and tobacco, or frequent verdoses of quinine. Continual and repeated noises of sufficient intensity caused "boilermakers' deafness." Cere-pro-spinal meningitis and mumps not nfrequently caused deafness, he said. Don't "Box" Their Ears.

to approve it unless it was so amended s to make provision for the payment

The Cape Girardeau Northern was urchased by the Frisco, which guaranteed its bonds. When receivers took charge of the Frisco in 1913 they re-

By CARLOS F. HURD. AUDE ADAMS, deliciously enact-ing Lady Babbie in "The Little Minister" at the Olympic Thea-ter last night, saw before her almost such an audience as used to greet her, a dozen years ago, when she played the same part in the same place.

One who did not look about too searchingly could imagine that the first floor seats were nearly all filled; and around the upper railings, often thinly lined in these days of the neighborhood film show, the fringe of heads was encouragingly continuous. The regular gallery-goers of other years have bowed the knee to the movies; but Maude Adams never has, and they return to see the acting which has never been put on a screen, and to hear voice which no mechanical device could replace or worthily reproduce.

It would be too much to say that Miss Adams, who was supposed to be as consistently slender as Mme. Bernhardt, has followed instead the example of Ethel Barrymore and of Mrs. Camp bell, and is growing buxom. Yet it may be doubted whether she would look uite as boyish as she once did in "Peter Pan"-which play she has not ncluded in her present Barrie reviva

But her girlishness, as Lady Babbie has not been affected, and she dances and sings her way through the by-paths of Thrums, and into the heart of its ittle minister as blithely as she ever did. Under her witchery one comes to love the dour folk of Thrums, all and several. Who could blame them, intians," or could help admiring them in their vigil against the redcoats? And their fealous regard for their young pastor, who has preached to them of the need for circumspect care in the tinels, set like Ezekiel's watchman to warn the people by blowing a trum-pet, and the first view of the little minister, striving for solemnity and pronouncing doom-like words, promse a hopeless task for one who would ring a smile into such scenes. But Lady Babbie, masquerading in gypsy-guise, soon creates greater havoc guise, soon creates greater han the red-coats ever threatened. his congregation to guessing and spyng, until the trail leads through the nanse and an old crone's cottage, to Rintoul Castle, Lady Babbie's home. The scene where the four elders, seeking to learn why the minister is not at prayer meeting, find and read his love verses, is an unexcelled hit of Caledonian comedy. David Torence, Charles Gay, Wallace Jackson and R. Peyton Carter take these parts, and Fred L Bruce-Tiden is becomingly boyish as the minister. Gladys Gillen makes the most of a oy's part, and other roles are well Miss Adams wil tonight play "What very Woman Knows," also a Barrie work, which she has presented here The fact known to all womankind, it will be remembered, has to do with the material from which Mother Eve was created. Dallas Anderson, who was not in last night's cast, will take the part of John Shand, and three others who were not in the larger cast of "The Little Minister" will appear. BRIGHT EYES" SPARKLE AT THE PARK THEATER ck Company Presents Old Fare Made Over Into Clever Musical Comedy.

"Bright Eyes," one of Charles Mckens' old farces which was turned into a musical comedy by Otto Hauerbach with music by Karl Hoschna, was presented by the stock company at the Park Theater last night before a large and pleased audience. The piece gave Roger Gray, Mabel Wilber, Louise Allen and the other members of the organization a chance to appear in modern every-day costumes, and the loosely constructed and rambling story made possible the introduction of several specialties. The first act of "Bright Eyes" howed the stage during the course showed the stage during the course of a rehearsal, with the chorus men setting the scenes and the show girls and "ponies" arriving late because their automobile broke down. As John Q. Montague, a theatrical manager who wanted to sacrifice everything that was sweet and pretty for the sake of "pep and ginger," Matt Hanley was excellent.

There is planty of whichly music

There is plenty of whistly music in "Bright Eyes," but to Miss Wilin Bright Eyes," but to Miss wil-ber fell the best song of the evening, "For You, Bright Eyes," which fur-nished the theme of the play, and which was sung many times.

Operatic Singer at Columbia Wins Applause Despite Program's Amusing Boasts.

UIDO CICCOLINI, operatic tenor, had several things to live down when he appeared yesterday at the Columbia Theater, where he is the leadliner of this week's bill. To begin with, it was chiefly to one's risibilities that an appeal was made by the boasts on the program, in a style of Barnumesque hyperbole, that he is "Europe's foremost operatic star" and "the most remarkable tenor of the generation;" that Mme. Melba had pronounced him "the world's greatest tenor," and that he was "engaged for vaudeville at a salary of $3500 a week."

But the tenor had sung only a few bars of his first number, Massenet's "Elegie," when it became evident that he was to be reckoned with seriously as an artist. although he will scarcely compel Caruso, Martinelli, Martin, Constantino, McCormack and a few other tenors to go into total eclipse. His voice is robust and melodious, especially in the baritone register, and his upper notes are pleasingly virile and ringing. Artistic taste, with fine technical skill and bounding temperament were evident in "Cielo e mar." from "La Gioconda." the Neapolitan song, "Mamma mia," and two songs in English, "Until," by Sanderson, and "Mother Machree."

The audience, which perhaps went to stare at him as an object of curiosity, because of his connection with the Nolker-"Baby" Marlowe episode in New York, remained to applaud him as a singer, and was also charmed with is modest and graceful demeanor on

In another number of the program hree artists who have appeared as eloists with symphony orchestras ere were heard in a dashing musical recital which ended in a tempest of ragtime. They were the accomplished Steindel brothers, Ferdinand, Albin and Max. Max Steindel was formerly irst 'cellist of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, and was soloist on several of its programs. Albin, a violinist, a sensation two years ago at a 'pop" concert here, and Ferdinand, a Orchestra at the Odeon several years

2000 DOLLS WERE

More Will Be Needed This Year for Children Guests at Post-Dispatch Festival.

PRIZES TO BE AWARDED

Five Dollars in Gold to Be Awarded to Five of the Most Artistic.

WIEN the Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival Association was, for the fifteenth year, host to the men, men and children of St. Louis, who otherwise would have known nothing of the holiday cheer, at the Coliseum last Christmas, nearly 2000 dolls were distributed among the little girls who were guests. Boys shared to like extent in the special hospitality with articles as dear to them as are dolls to the girls.

There will be repetition of that hospitality on the nearly-approaching Christmas day, but on an enlarged scale. The capacity of the Coliseum is to be tested as never before.

The Christmas holidays of 1914 were days when the need of hospitality was keen to a degree, perhaps never equaled in St. Louis or any other important center of population. Times have improved this year, and are steadily growing better, but the revival has not yet attained proportions to relieve much of the destitution which had its beginning the latter half of the preceding year. There still are thousands of men, women and children, who will enter the Christmas period with nothing but regret at its coming and emerge with hearts heavily weighted with disappointment unless the benevolent make themselves manifest through hospitality in harmony with the season.

Help in Doll Dressing Needed. The first business of the Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival Association has to do with the preparation of dolls for distribution among the little girls. These have been provided, minus dress. The dolls are just the sort of dears to at once make their way to the hearts of the young misses—a foot tall, joint-ed, with bisque heads covered with flowing hair, and eyes that move as though responding to real nerves and muscles. The hair is brown and blond, to suit the desire of the recipient. Dressing of these dolls is the initial step in the preparations for the annual festival. The Post-Dispatch wants volunteers for this work. The first call went out yesterday, and response today was widespread. Hundreds have been applied for, but there are thousands to be thus prepared for the distribution. The accompanying coupon is for the convenience of the women and girls whom the Post-Dispatch knows to be willing to thus contribute to the joy of the poor girls of the community on a day when it would immeasurably distress any right-minded man or woman, young or old, to know that there was among their neighbors a heart torn by

The doll-dressing campaign is this vear inaugurated a few days earlier than formerly so that it may be completed in advance of the time when women and girls begin to prepare their own remembrances. Within a few days, when the responses have been sufficient for the task, the Post-Dispatch will deliver the dolls to those who request the privilege of dressing them, and later on will collect them. Arrangements for their display already have been made, and the hospitable ones will have the satisfaction of see-ing their taste, and skill on exhibition. Five of them, selected wholly by reason of the taste and skill shown in the dressing and without regard to the fabrics employed in the costuming, will draw from the Post-Dispatch a prize of $5 in gold each for those who did the

Won't you dress one or more of these dolls for the girls just now struggling against ill-fortune? Officers of clubs or other organizations which desire to measure their hospitality in this respect or in part, may indicate on the coupon the number of dolls they will take.

Assured That Part of $3,000,000 From Bond Issue Would Be Used in Incorporated Places.

Mayors of seven of the 10 incorporated wms and villages of St. Louis County ast night at a good roads banquet in yould not support the proposed $3,000,000 bond issue for good roads and new bridges unless assured that a portion of the money would be expended within the towns.

Harry B. Hawes, toastmaster, and a leader in the good roads movements, said he believed that a way had been found by which the incorporated places could be directly benefited. He said that although under the law there would appear to be no way to spend money withthe towns, the law could be stretched a little," and that members of the County Court had told him they would enter into a "gentlemen's agreenen" to use a part of the bond issue in the towns.

The objections to the bond issue, the Mayors explained, was due to the fact that it would increase the taxes and that residents of the towns would not derive direct benefit, as under the law incorporated towns are required to naintain their streets without aid from Opposition in Kirkwood. Joseph R. Matthews, Mayor of Kirk-wood, said that his town was not a wealthy one, and that it had much ouble in keeping its streets in repair. He said that while personally he favored carry in Kirkwood.

o the amount of additional tax the bond issue would impose on the county. Positive information on this could not be supplied last night, but it has been estimated by officers of the Permanent Road and Bridge Association that the ncreased tax would not be in excess of cents on the $100 of valuation. Other Mayors who spoke at the meet

At Least $3,000,000 Needed. Mayor Jensen said that as a mem-ber of a recent grand jury he had inrestigated condition of roads in many parts of the county after the heary rains last August, and that he personally knew that the expenditure of at least $3,000,000 was necessary. He said hat he believed a bond issue to be the better plan.

Hawes, in telling of the plan, said hat if the voters of the county realized hat a failure of the bond issue would mean an increase in the assessed valuation of property in the country to provide sufficient money for road purposes, he believed they would prefer the bond

Nearly all of the Mayors agreed with this statement, and said that with the residents of the towns informed in regard to all details they believed the bonds would carry. George S. Johns of the Post-Dis-patch, talked in support of good roads. He told the history of several bond issue campaigns in St. Louis, and expressed the opinion that if everything in connection with the campaign for the bonds were made known to the voters in the county, and that if they were thoroughly informed of details, the success of the Traffic Through Tower Grove Park.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch. From an utopian viewpoint, your recent editorial, captioned "The Business Invasion of Tower is most commendable; from the point of view of intelligent municipal policy, it is unworthy of your editorial page. The insinuation that "private business," in this instance, has design upon public rights is a perversion of fact . Editor, you have not subjected the situation at Tower Grove Park to thorough analysis obviously, have not considered the relation to Southwest St. Louis of this narrow, impossible and isolates from the heart of the city all of that district tributary to Morganford road, between tion with the central city and accordingly denies proper transportation facilities, has remained vir tually stagnant, while to the south and west of it development has gone on at a rapid rate, especially during the last two years.

The importance of a thoroughfare to the life of my community cannot be overestimated. Morganford road is the natural continuation of Tower Grove and Vandeventer avenues, affording to-gether a convenient, contiguous route, longer than to which Representatives of all parties are asked Grand avenue or King's highway, clear across the middle of town, from the river on the north (Prairie avenue) to beyond the city limits on the With the elimination of the artificial barrier at Tower Grove Park, this route, since the Louis' greatest transcity thoroughfare.

Booker Washington's Wisdom.

The greatest thing that can be said about Dr.

THE RIVER BARRIER.

The annual report of the Terminal Railway ontains interesting information on the use of the upper traffic way of the Eads Bridge.

The report shows that the average number of persons crossing the bridge per day is 21,620. Of these 17,130 travel by trolley and the remainder on foot, horseback, in autos and wagons. The total is 30 passengers a minute for each 12-hour

An average of 1584 vehicles-404 autos and 1180 agons—cross each day.

Despite the handicap of lack of through trolley cars and excessive tolls the passenger traffic between St. Louis and the East Side is heavy. It shows what the traffic would be with trolley facilities into St. Louis and without excessive tolls.

There is no point in which St. Louis business men have been more derelict, more blind and apathetic to St. Louis' interests than that of transportation between St. Louis and the East Side. They have accepted conditions of cross-river transportation facilities which have greatly hampered free communication and free trade with the great and growing population of the East Side. With the exception of one roundabout line there is no through trolley transportation from East St. Louis into St. Louis. The 200,000 population should have an easy and cheap access to St. Louis as the population of St. Louis. Much of it is within the same radius as that of St. Louis.

The municipal bridge will help break down the barrier of the river. But it should be a long step toward the complete opening of the gates. It should be used as a lever to open the upper roadway of the Eads Bridge. There should be at least three great thoroughfares between St. Louis and East St. Louis and trolley lines connecting the cities. They would be profitable to the people on both sides of the river.

EVANGELIZING JEFF. CITY.

The 2558 at Jefferson City who have professed desire under Evangelist Charles Reign Scoville's ministrations to lead a better life include a considerable percentage of the personnel of the present State administration and several avowed aspirants for the Governorship. Fifty, perhaps 60, per cent of the flood of Trail road and the Oregon Trail road, but the replies received, he says, made a clamorous desawdust trail at Jefferson City can do a powerful lot of good for the State of Missouri.

AN ALLEGED NEWS ITEM.

A morning contemporary publishes a story about an "alleged" German plot in America, after all the American newspapers have denounced the plot in unmeasured terms. It says the details of the plot will be told the Federal grand jury spiracy against the industries of the United States -munition plants, arms factories and other plants that have been filling orders for the allies." It describes this "alleged" conspiracy as "the greatest and most gigantic without doubt ever developed in this country," and that it "involves diplomatic agents, innumerable Consuls, distinguished pro-Germans and many men in the employ of the Governments of the central Powers.'

And after all, there may be no such plot and all the denunciations printed may have to be taken back. A thing merely "alleged" may turn out to be false in toto. But why take such pains to show its immensity and include so many big fish in its net if you are going to do nothing more than "allege?" The answer is easy: If you only allege, you won't have to hedge.

TWO BLIND "LEADERS."

DESTRUCTIVE DEMAGOGISM.

Rumors that Gov. Major is threatening to reorganize the Public Service Commission on account of railroad rates increase are disquieting.

The Public Service Commission was created to take the regulation of railroads out of politics and place it on a business basis. The Governor's public utterances denouncing the action of his commission is an effort to put the railroad rate issue back into politics by appealing to popular prejudice and arousing public sentiment against the railroads. It is an effort to make political capital out of public animosity against one of the great business interests of the State.

The people cannot possibly judge whether railroad rates are right or wrong, equitable or inequitable. Neither can a legislature under conditions of rate-fixing legislation. To attempt to refer questions of railroad rate making from the commission, created and empowered to study and regulate railroad rates, to the people is demagogism.

To go further than this and threaten the Pubic Service Commissioners with dismissal for decisions either not pleasing to the Governor, or in his opinion not pleasing to the people, is destructive demagogism.

It was hardly to be expected that the prospect of a presidential wedding would not bring out some exhibitions of bad taste.

A FILM-THEATER REFERENDUM.

The president of a film-making company in New York, described as the largest concern of the sort in the country, recently sent out inquiries to picture theater managers asking what kind of

What's the use of kidding ourselves? People are people the world over. They've got the same kind of red blood running through their veins that you claim to have in yours. Look back over the record of successes on the stage during the past few years and you will see that the biggest hits were those that contained ticklish situations.

The writer of the letter argued that the same sort of "ticklish situations" were essential to the biggest picture-show hits, also, and the president, declaring that his company does not pose as a guardian of public morals or public taste, announces this: "It is quite possible that we may out out a picture that is off color now and then. as a feeler." However, he has the grace to add that if the time ever comes when he has to depend solely on such pictures, he will get out of the business and ask a job of the Street Commissioner.

AUTOMOBILE VERSION. ACK, my boy, be very agile Nowadays upon thy feet; Life, you know, becometh fragile Anywhere upon the street. There are drivers caring little For a man or two a day, Knowest thou the figures, dearle, for the year compared with last? Motorists are never weary of the sport of running fast. Forty-nine or fifty people have been killed this year of grace, and the cars are ever busy sorting, weeding out the race.

And thy bones are very brittle

If thou gettest in the way.

Take the case of New York CI Last month's record, forty-three; Does it not appear a pity Things so terrible can be? Or will it be better, maybe, As the motorists submit, In conclusion, when there are no More pedestrians to hit?

Life is real, life is earnest, and the grave is not its goal; any motorist will gladly give momentum to your soul. All you have to do is falter where the saxon's voice is hoarse, and he will be glad to alter anybody's earthly course.

SOUNDED FUNNY, BUT IT WAS ALL RIGHT. I was standing in front of Union Station Sunday morning about 7:30 when a man came up to me and said, "This is the dog-gondest town I was ever in in my life." "What's the matter?" I asked, thinking he was going to give me the old familiar whine about "saloons all closed" on Sunday. I was surprised when he said, "Why, I walked up to two policemen up the street, and asked them where the postoffice was. They looked at me, and said 'We don't know; we're strangers here!"

That was pretty good, but I had already seen the colicemen. They were two of the Philadelphia force that accompanied the Liberty Bell.

A little girl who went out to see the Liberty Bell Sunday morning returned terribly disappointed "Didn't you see the bell?" her mother asked.

"I saw the bell, but I was on the wrong side to see the crack,' the child explained. Open cars are proving more popular than closed cars

A FORD FILM.

It was just like a movie down in Cedar County the other day when Ernest McWilliams bought a new Ford and started home with it. He met a buggy with a man, woman and girl in it, and the team ran away. The boy who was driving the car looked back to see how the team was doing, and went off the end of a bridge, breaking a rod and a lamp. Then William Reed, the blacksmith, who tried to take the car to his shop, ran it into a ditch and turned it over, throwing everybody out. Nobody hurt,-Cass County (Mo.) Leader, BEAUTY CULTURE. N. J. G.—For those born with straight hair and whose tresses were not coaxed into curliness by a fond and persistent parent, there is no redress. Marcel curlers have been found satisfactory by many, but the curls produced by their assistance are temporary and evanescent. Tar water is said to make the hair wavy and to benefit it in other ways, acting really as a tonic. To make it, get from the druggist a 5-cent box of white pine tar; pour the contents into a bottle (a quart size) of hot water; let stand until cold. The tar will cling to the bottom of the bottle; do not shake, as you will get the full substance and strength of the tar without shaking. Just upse the water from the tar. To use, put a little into a small vessel and rub into the scalp and on the hair with a brush (one a little longer than a tooth brush will do). While the hair is moist push it forward and press it with the fingers.

CONTROVERSIAL.—Any American citizen is deemed to have expatriated himself when he has been naturalized in any foreign state in conformity with its laws, or when he has taken an oath of allegiance to any foreign state. Enlistment in some foreign armies, or some sections of foreign armies, or some sections of foreign armies, does not involve taking an oath of allegiance to a foreign state. On the other hand, enlistment in other foreign armies does involve taking such an oath. It follows that American citizens may or may not expatriate themselves by enlistment in foreign armies, their status depending upon the laws and regulations governing the particular enlistment. United States court decisions since the European war began are to the effect that in taking the enlistment oath of allegiance to a foreign monarch or state, an American loses his citizenship in this country. Our laws do not recognize a double allegiance, under such circumstances. Other countries have their own citizenship in their own countries; the laws and courts of those countries decide the point.

GUSTIN DENIES

St. Clair County Official Says He Once Sent Blank Paper for Debt of About $500.

V. Gustin, assistant State's Atorney of St. Clair County, Ill., this orning paid $2400 to John C. Tobin as receiver of the brokerage firm of Payne & Becker and was released from an attachment which had been ecured against his property in connection with a suit for $50,328 filed against him yesterday by Tobin. The 2400 was accepted in settlement of a ransaction between Gustin and Payne Becker involving about $5000.

The remainder of the $53,000 suit s based, according to Tobin, upon a note dated Dec. 22, 1914, for $48,000 given by Gustin to B. A. Becker and due in six months. This note was found among the assets of the brok-

Gustin told a Post-Dispatch reporter this morning that he was amazed at the appearance of this note. He said that about a year ago he owed Becker several sums personally loaned, and sent him a signed but blank note, telling him to fill it out for what he owed. "I did not owe Becker more than $500," said Gustin, "and I had supposed that, if he did make out a note, it would be for a smaller sum. At any rate, I know nothing of this note, and settled my indebtedness to Becker long ago. I shall fight the suit on this note apon the ground that it was given without any consideration, and that I did not know such a note existed."

Gustin said that the $5000 transaction which he settled for $2400, grew out of his effort to procure a direct telegraph wire for Payne & Becker to Chicago, after one firm in Chicago notified Payne & Becker a short time ago that it would discontinue its service to the firm here. Gustin said that he went to Chicago with $5000 advanced to him for the pur pose of securing a direct wire. Reese was a close runner-up all the way and he was not inferior in courage or the strength he put behind his punches. Palmer won because he was a trifle faster and appeared more precise in the placing of his punches. They both let go with hard, snappy punches and it was evident each was trying for a knockout.

The weight agreement is the same as last time—135 pounds at 3 p. m. —but there is this difference: Reese -but there is this difference: Reese is in better condition. He has been doing hard training and is at his best. The California boy is spurred on by a desire to make good in the hearts of St. Louis fans that he may remain here for the winter and be matched against the best that can be secured to meet him. He is willing to box anyone at weights ranging from 133 to 140 pounds, and may be depended upon to make earnest effort whenever he enters the ring. Reese is of exceptional good habits and has the sportsman's ambition of being returned a winner, irrespective of whatever other award there may be. Quiet and unassuming of manner, he is a dangerous man in the ring because he is possessed of more than average ability and is hard to force back an inch when battling is hardest.

"Haughton intends to retire "in a blaze of glory," declared the Post-Dispatch informant, "His outside business interests are making more insistent demands on his time, and he feels that now is the time to retire and 'rest on his laurels.' He will recommend Charlie Daly as his successor."

The report of Haughton's contemplated retirement is made to appear all the stronger by the Harvard Crimson, which editorially praises Haughton, but expresses the fear that he will not renew his contract to coach the Harvard team.

Fred Moore, graduate manager of the Harvard team, when asked concerning Haughton's prospective retirement by a Post-Dispatch correspondent last night, said: "We hope and expect to get Haughton again."

When a penalty checked our drive. I'm anything but convinced that this team is a weak one. We're out to redeem ourselves Thursday."

There is some grumbling in certain quarters about Keogan's ability as a coach. However, none of this 5 heard among the players. They all are loval, and most of them are going against Georgetown with the avowed intention of redeeming the record of their instructor. A victory over Georgetown will go a long way towards cinching. Thursday's game will begin at 2:30, prices being the same as prevailed at the Washington game.

Blue and White Players Have Defense for Georgetown's Expected Aerial Attack.

By W. J. O'Connor.

"A cat can look at a King and we're going to take one squint at Georgetown before we'll admit that they're our superiors," said Capt. Stanislav of the St.

"With the exception of our game with De Pauw, we have not had a full team in the field this season." continued the Billiken field leader. "We lost Wynn and Corcoran in the first play against Arkansas, while we were badly maimed in the field this season," continued the Billiken field leader. "We lost Wynn and Corcoran in the first play against Arkansas, while we were badly maimed when Lombard called. We felt the effects of injuries in the Washington game, although I'm not trying to minimize the praise due the Pikers. My only argument is that we're better equipped to defend our goal in the final game than we have been in any collision this season."

The Billikens are rather pleased to know that Georgetown will rely on an aerial attack. Keogan has built a defense for the passing game and the players appreciate the fact that they will have a better chance to last through a struggle that is featured by open play than they would have in a battle where straight football predominated.

"There are possibilities in this team said Artie Thomas. "In all our games before the Washington clash we were under cover, relying entirely on the sim-

Washington relied entirely on the "old army" game and it was the persistent pounding of the heavy Pikeway backs in the first half that wore down the Billikens. If Georgetown makes good its threat and sprinkles its attack with passes, the Billikens have the hunch that the score will be sufficiently close to entertain the crowd. They also are conceited enough to believe that they have an outside chance to win. To a man, moreover, they are confident of playing a much better game than anything shown so far at Sportsman's Park.

The Billikens having been nicely trimmed in their last two outs are now in pretty fair shape to give the Georgetown boys an argument.

Got Nothing on Us.

We are told that Georgetown re-lies mainly on straight football. All right, that's where we shine. If we can't beat 'em straight we don't want to beat 'em at all.

All we ask is a fair field and no favors and may the better team win We understand they are betting it to 1 that it will. Getting Acclimated.

The Police Department has a nice symnasium, but that's always full of po-licemen exercising their authority.

Come to think of it, though, the Board of Aldermen seems to be pretty husky in spite of having no municipal sympasium. They knocked the jitney business out with one punch.

Arrangements for the battle have not been definitely closed, and will not be until after the with Central on Thanksgiving day. At present everything depends on the outcome of the Turkey day battle. While the South Siders are confident of winning from Mike Walker's eleven, they are not counting their chickens before they are hatched and going ahead and arranging the contest with Englewood.

"If we lose to Central on Thursday
we will not want to bring an out-oftown team here for a game," said Coach Crosby. "If we win, we will try to complete arrangements with Englewood. If the Chicago team does not come, then we will try to bring some other strong eleven here for the post-season battle.
"There is a chance that negotiations with Englewood will fall through, as Manager Sachsel of Englewood is asking a high price to come here. We will go our limit to get the Chicago aggregation to come here.

Coach Favors Missouri Opponent "I would like to bring the high school champion of Missouri, that is, outside of St. Louis, here. I am confident that such a battle would draw just as many people as a conflict with the Chicago

Englewood last Saturday won the championship of Chicago by walloping Crane Technical, 52 to 0. Crane won the title of the northern section and was picked to give Englewood a close game. They were unable to hold the Englewood backfield men, though. Eddle Leonard, a six-footer, was the star for the Windy City champions in the game Saturday. He carried the ball across the Crane line four times on tackle plays. Quarterback Wolfe and Halfback Dunworth counted the other touchdowns for Englewood.

That Englewood has a mighty eleven is shown clearly by the fact that University High, winner of the Chicago Suburban championship, refuses to meet the city title winners, although they have been offered three dates. Englewood's next game will be played in Sloux City, and then the Windy City champs will come fere it arranges ments for the game can be made.

Thomas Jefferson "Father of the Declaration of Independence"

HIS noble founder of the Democratic Party immortalized himself by writing our Declaration of Independence—the document which laid the foundations of Free Government, not only for our own beloved land, but for all the world. His countrymen twice elected him President and will always treasure his memory. Jefferson was the most ardent advocate of Universal Freedom of his time and it was his wisdom and foresight which brought about the Louisiana Purchase. Every drop of his Virginia blood loved Liberty, and because he wanted Americans to be assured of it for all time he championed with all his might and main the signing of the Constitution of the United States. None of the Fathers of the Republic were more far-seeing than he and none knew better than he that a mild brew of barley-malt and hops is truly a temperance drink. Hence, in 1816, he wrote President Madison: "A Captain Miller is about to settle in this country and establish a brewery. I wish to see this beverage become common." Jefferson lived past his 83rd year and all his life he was a moderate user of light wines and barley brews. It is unimaginable that were he alive to-day he would vote otherwise than NO to proposed tyrannous prohibition laws. For 58 years Anheuser-Busch have been brewing the kind of honest barley and hop brews which Jefferson hoped in his day to see the National beverage of Americans. Exactly such a beer is BUDWEISER. Its quality, purity, mildness and exquisite flavor have won its way to the top. To-day 7500 people are daily required to meet the public demand. Its sales exceed any other beer by millions of bottles. beloved land, but for all the world. His countrymen twice elected him President and will always

American Federation Convention Pavors Economic Pressure to Get Shorter Hours.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.-A resolu tion indorsing legislative methods in obtaining a universal eight-hour law was defeated by a vote of 8486 to 6396 at the final session of the thirty-fifth annual convention of the American Federation of Labor, last night, after a heated debate-between President Gompers and John Fitzpatrick, president of the Illinois State Federation of Labor. The convention went on record in favor of nomic pressure only to obtain shorter hours. The final session, stormiest of the convention, did not adjourn until early today.

The vote was a victory for President Gompers, who, in a speech, declared that the Socialist party was behind the attempt to force the federation to indorse the proposed eight-hour-day legis-

After the vote was taken, Fitzpatrick stated that the action of the convention affected only 2,000,000 organized workers. This brought about an acrimonious dispute between him and Gompers, toward the end of which Gompers refused to read to the convention a communica tion from his opponent.

The convention went on record as favoring an American merchant marine and refused to take favorable cognizance of naval increases. The convention adjourned, to meet next year in Baltimore.

Suffered Twanty-One Years--Finally Found Relief

Having suffered for twenty-one years with a pain in my side, I finally have found relief in Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. Injections of morphine were my only relief for short periods of time. I became so sick that I had to undergo a surgical operation in New Orleans, which benefited me for two years. When the same pain came back one day I was so sick that I gave up hopes of living. A friend advised me to try your Swamp-Root and I at once commenced using it. The first bottle did me so much good that I purchased two more bottles. I am now on my second bottle and am that I purchased two more bottles. I am now on my second bottle and am feeling like a new woman. I passed a gravel stone as large as a big red bean and several small ones. I have not had the least feeling of pain since taking your Swamp-Root and I feel it my duty to recommend this great medicine to all suffering humanity. Gratefully yours,

Consols in the London Market
Sell at 58.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—The abolition of the "minimum" prices on the Stock Exchange today, which were imposed at the outbreak of the war, did not lead to much selling pressure. Consols, however, which have been quoted at the "minimum" of 65, changed hands soon after the opening of the market at 58. The quotation of 58 for consols was the lowest for more than 100 years. Consols of the Napoleonic era, however, were 3 per cents instead of 28, 80 that the comparison is not as unfavorable as appears on its face.

Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The Evening ost, in its copyrighted financial review,

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review, today, says:

"Of news with a bearing on financial value, there was little today. Formal announcement of the powerful corporation to finance expansion in this country's export trade was of great interest, but chiefly with a view to conditions after the war. In that regard, it is one of the signs of the day—like the increase in trade with South America and the arrival of a French Commission to prepare the way for placing singe post-bellum orders in this country—which are bound to set the people thinking about the new economic era which is presently to begin. A matter of perhaps more immediate interest was the decline in six-months money rates on Wall street; to an all but unprecedentedly low figure for the season. "The day's stock market was of a desultory character. As a whole, it was strong, but it was made up chiefly of readjustment by professional operators of their speculative accounts. Such lately predominant influences as purchases by the outside public and London realizing cut no figure. Wall street described the market as the dullest since the recent speculative rise got under active way, in the middle of September.

Exchange Market Strong.

Exchange Market Strong.

"Exchange on London, which got up to 4.70% last week and fell back to 4.80% at the week's close, went above 4.70 again today. Such a movement arouses interest in the question what a present pegged price, if any, has been fixed by the managers of the London bankers' credit. From London itself we have had the cabled intimation that a considerably higher rate is aimed at. Yet the London bankers are likely to sound the market cautiously at every step; because, if large offerings of sterling bills were to be encountered on rise, it would mean the New York credit might have to be drawn down with undesirable rapidity to establish the higher rate.

is might have to be drawn down with undesirable rapidity to establish the higher rate.

"The excess of American exports over imports, with which this operation in storling has to deal, shows no sign of slackening. Yesterday's complete report of our foreign trade in October, though perhaps the export surplus was smaller than had been looked for, nevertheless broke all monthly records of the sort by $11.000,000. It raised the excess of exports for the 10 completed months more than a thousand million dollars above that of the same months in any preceding year, and it foreshadowed, in case the trade figures of November and December were to be the same as in October, an export excess for the full calendar year of exactly $2,000,000,000.

"This is no improbable result. The preliminary statement for week before last showed an expert surplus of $48.000,000, second only to the $70,600,000 of the third week of October. Today's statement for last week gives an outward balance of $58,500,000. For November to date the showing is almost as large as the total of the same weeks in October.

British Consels Lower,

British Consols Lower.

"The decline in the price of British consols on the abolition of London Stock Exchange "minimums" to 58, as against the recent nominal price of 65, is not of itself particularly significant. This is so, first, because the quoted price has long been recognized as an artificial, but, second, because these old 2½ per cent Government bonds are what the French market calls 'declasse.' That is to say, they have been crowded out of the front as an investment issue by the new 4½ per cents; into which, indeed, the conversion of the old consols, under the recent offer of the Government, has been rapidly pushed. The more significant fact has been that the 4½s themselves, on which no minimum price pestriction is imposed, have lately sold two or three points below the issue price.

"This was a logical enough move-tion is imposed, have lately sold two or three points below the issue price.

"This was a logical enough movement, in view of the absolute certainty of very large new British Government bond issues, at the same or a higher price. Nothing could very well sustain a Government bond under such circumstances, except the prospect of an early termination of the war, or so great an issue of irredeemable paper money as artificially to sustain all prices. The first condition certainly does not exist; the second has probably served to sustain prices of Government bonds on the Berlin market, but not at London. Yet it is rather striking under all the surrounding influences, that some railway shares, securities of shipping companies, South African mines and a number of foreign issues apart from our own securities, have lately been rising with what seemed to be cheerful optimism on the London Stock Exchange."
